THREE CHANCES FOR TITLE BUT HE PASSED ALL

By J. L. HUGHES.
Charley White got his last chance to win the lightweight title at Benton Harbor Monday afternoon. This was the consensus of opinion freely circulated about the Michigan city following Champion Benny Leonard's knockout victory.

The golden opportunity had presented itself for the third time to the Chicago Jewish boy, but he passed it by. Now it is believed that Leonard will never give White another chance because he has felt the force of the latter's celebrated left hook. In the fifth round when White caught his opponent on the point of the jaw for a clean knockdown, the championship was held out a hand for him to grasp.

Benny was partly through the ropes and dazed. He made a feeble effort to arise without assistance but couldn't. White developed every symptom of a preliminary fighter. Instead of getting set to land another on the champion when the latter got to his feet, White backed away towards a neutral corner and Benny was given the chance to assemble his scattered senses and stall through the remainder of the round. There is no doubt that had White been ready to land when Benny arose the title would have changed hands, for Charley has the force of a middleweight behind his wallop.

This was in many respects a repetition of the two previous chances White was given for the title. When he fought Willie Ritchie he had him practically out in the first round but lacked the keen intellect to derive the true state of his antagonist's condition. White thought Ritchie was stalling. Ritchie wasn't but he got the chance to recover and in the succeeding rounds he plastered the Chicagoan all over the ring.

And when White fought Freddie Welsh for the title, he saw the Englishman, floundering helplessly about the ring but was afraid to press his advantage and land the one punch that would have brought him a stream of golden dollars.

In contrast to the uncertainty of Leonard when he knocks his opponent into a receptive condition for a knockout, Benny needed only the one opportunity to reach White's jaw. Each time that Charley arose in that ninth round he was met with a fusillade of right and left swings to vital portions of the anatomy. In fact his first real punch to land on White caused the latter to falter ever so slightly but the effect was not lost on Leonard and he proceeded in his masterful fashion to complete the work.

Some baseball experts will say it is bad stuff to swing at a ball when the count is two balls and no strikes. However, that is what Ray Beck did on this occasion and about 10,000 fans, including 2,000 or more who will declare that it was right. The baddy, quite a master in the art of pitching, was on the slab. In that 11th, he disposed of Beck Weaver and Joe Johnson, making both pop up. Then came Hank Hagby fed him a sample on the outside and Hag let them go. Score: R. H. P. A. E.

NEW YORK TO KEEP BOXING SPORT CLEAN

Commission Is Determined to Check Evil Influence of the Old Days.

BY HENRY L. FARRELL.
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, July 7.—To keep boxing clean in New York and make a record that will induce other states to give the sport a chance, the International Sporting club has announced a move to check the parasites and the evil influences of the old days.

Vigilance committees will be appointed in every city of the state to keep an eye on boxing as it will be conducted under the new Walker bill, and report any infraction of the new rules.

The chairman of the New York commission, announced by the club, is former Governor Charles W. Whitman, who killed boxing during

TAKES LEASE ON PARK TO PREVENT SUNDAY BASEBALL

Fayette City, Pa., July 7.—The controversy between church people and an independent baseball team here, over Sunday baseball, was settled today when Andrew Brown, wealthy farmer and churchman, announced that he had leased the only available baseball grounds in this region. To secure the lease Mr. Brown had to lease a tract of 197 acres from a coal company.

The Islanders will engage in eight games within six days, starting today. Cedar Rapids is here for four games, the entire club to be played as a part of a scheduled double header tomorrow. Moline slips over on the 10th, 11th and 12th. On Sunday, July 11, the Islanders and Peoria will meet up in a scheduled double header. After Moline the team takes to the road for 10 days, meeting Terre Haute, Evansville and Bloomington in order.

The series with Bloomington is the last chance in as many days. The club will return on July 20 to meet Moline on the final lot.

Ladies' Day is Friday.
Ladies' day is Friday at Douglas park. The fair out are extended in cordial invitation to be present at the game. No charge is made for women at the gate.

Manager Gloeckson has made some changes in the lineup of the Islanders by which he hopes to pull the team up into the first division. He has brought in his brother, Willard Gloeckson, from the South Dakota league for an outfield position, relieving Callahan. The younger Gloeckson was with Moline during the training season. He is a good outfielder and a consistent hitter. During his stay in the Dakota league he played an excellent brand of baseball.

Bill Callahan.
Team Callahan, the Islanders' center fielder, has been sold to Rockford. Manager Gloeckson today also announced the release of pitcher Floyd Westphal and infielder Mickey Condon. Gloeckson stated both men are two inexperienced to be carried this late in the season. He said both showed excellent prospects of developing into classy performers but that the finances of the club and the desire of the fans to see the team climb in the percentage column did not warrant holding the youngsters for season.
